Equipment

Our modern and comprehensive stores have a full range of equipment for all our courses. The stores will be open on the morning of your course for you to borrow anything you need. All this is included in the course fee. Of course you are welcome to use any of your own equipment on our courses if agreed with the instructor on the day.

A winter kit list will be emailed to you on request.

Transport and Venues

All our course start and finish from our main office at Bothkennar Hub and transport to the venue and back is included in the course fee. Your vehicle can be left in our car park.

Start times are listed with the course dates and finish times will vary. Please ensure you plan on being out with us all day - if conditions are good we will make the most of them.

Venues are dependent on Mother Nature and may be decided on the day of activity.

■ Outdoors Winter Staff Team

John Jackson

John heads up the Community Programme and is the manager of the Outdoors team. He is a Winter Mountaineering and Climbing Instructor, Mountain Ski Leader and has a host of paddlesports qualifications. He has climbed and skied extensively in the European Alps as well as other mountain areas throughout the world.

Michael Hunt

Mike has an extensive skiing background. He holds the BASI 2 award and is a Mountain Ski Leader. He immerses himself in all aspects of skiing including telemarking. He is also a Mountain Bike Leader, Winter Mountain Leader and is responsible for coordinating the Outdoors team's delivery of activities for schools.

Craig McLaren

Craig is a Winter Mountain Leader; he is responsible for planning the High Tops days and trips and delivering our winter skills courses. He has been wandering the Scottish hills in all weathers for well over 40 years. This time in the mountains has allowed him to build up a very good knowledge of the Scottish hills.

Martin Holland

Martin has been climbing for well over 40 years. He is a Winter Mountaineering and Climbing Instructor and is a very active all-round climber. His specialty is seeking out esoteric new winter routes, especially in the Southern Highlands.

Euan Whittaker

Euan is a British Mountain Guide. He has been instructing and guiding mountain activities for 29 years. These days, he splits his time between the European Alps, Norway and Scotland delivering courses in alpine mountaineering, rock and ice climbing, off piste skiing and ski touring.

Seasonal Highlights

- North-west Highlands & Torridon mountaineering or winter hillwalking trips
- Early season Cairngorm mixed winter climbing trip
- Ski touring mountain expedition
- Snowholing expedition for walkers or skiers
- Beginners and intermediate winter climbing and ski touring
- Linked or standalone winter skills courses and weekends

Alpine Guide Jacket - Dope Red

ALPINE GUIDE JACKET

Designed exclusively for outdoor professionals requiring lightweight versatility in a durable package, the Alpine Guide Jacket with GORE-TEX Dope Dye technology minimizes fading from UV to improve durability while reducing the manufacturing footprint.

Winter Mountain Skills Courses

Introduction to Scottish winter skills, Winter navigation and avalanche awareness, and winter ropework for hillwalkers.

With these three courses we hope to give you some of the building blocks that will enable you to enjoy journeying through Scotland's winter environment. These skills days stand alone or can be linked providing progression.

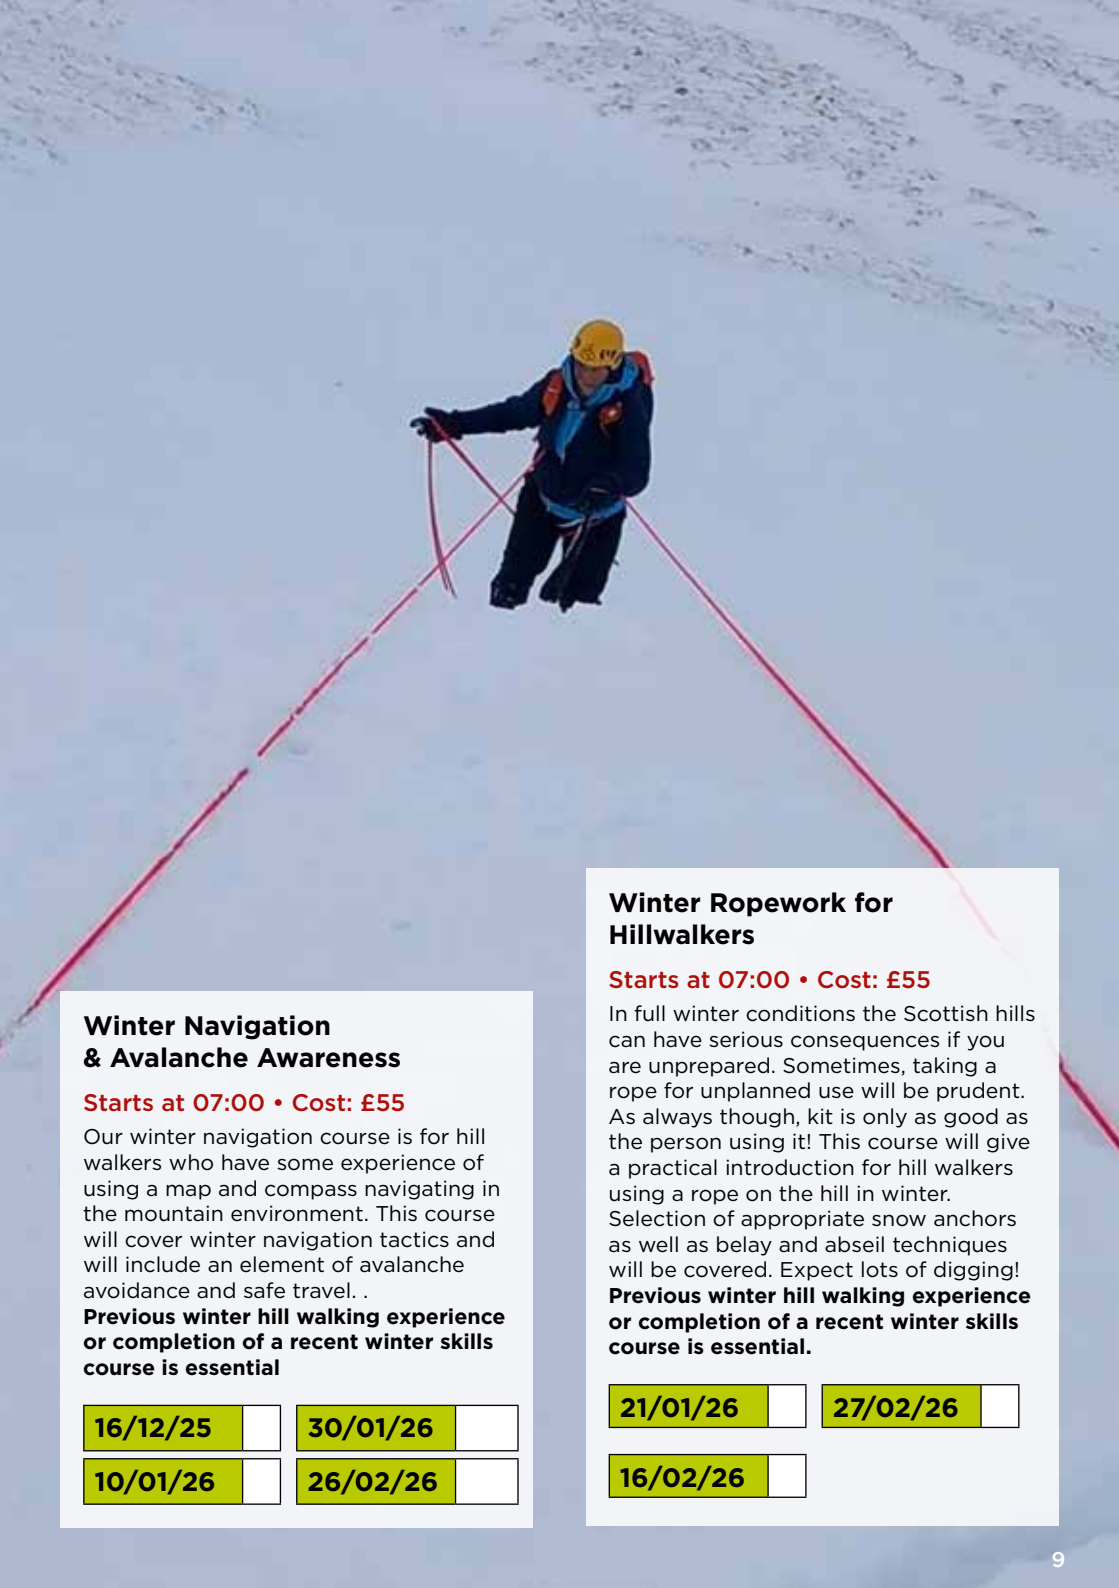

Introduction to Scottish winter skills

Starts at 07:00 • Cost: £55

This is an essential day for anyone who wants to enjoy Scotland's mountains in winter conditions. This is a full day on the hill and will consist of looking at equipment for winter hill walking and skills such as 'using the boot as a tool', cramponing techniques, walking with an axe and self-arrest.

Previous summer hill walking experience is essential.

20/12/25	26/01/26	23/02/26	14/03/26
08/01/26	14/02/26	05/03/26

Winter Navigation & Avalanche Awareness

Starts at 07:00 • Cost: £55

Our winter navigation course is for hill walkers who have some experience of using a map and compass navigating in the mountain environment. This course will cover winter navigation tactics and will include an element of avalanche avoidance and safe travel. .

Previous winter hill walking experience or completion of a recent winter skills course is essential

16/12/25	30/01/26
10/01/26	26/02/26

Winter Ropework for Hillwalkers

Starts at 07:00 • Cost: £55

In full winter conditions the Scottish hills can have serious consequences if you are unprepared. Sometimes, taking a rope for unplanned use will be prudent. As always though, kit is only as good as the person using it! This course will give a practical introduction for hill walkers using a rope on the hill in winter. Selection of appropriate snow anchors as well as belay and abseil techniques will be covered. Expect lots of digging!

Previous winter hill walking experience or completion of a recent winter skills course is essential.

21/01/26	27/02/26
16/02/26

Winter High Tops

Accessible walks for everyone, from aspiring newbies to adventurous winter walkers.

Starts at 07:00 • Cost £65

The days will involve a high top - either a Munro or one of our finer Corbetts - so you will need to have previous hill walking experience. If we need to refresh winter skills on the move we will, but if you require more extensive tuition please book on one of our winter skills courses.

All winter High Tops are weather dependent. For bike access walks we use landrover tracks to get to the bottom of the hill. The riding is easy, but you will be wearing boots. If conditions on the day are deemed too snowy on the track we will do an amended walk instead.

Previous winter hill walking experience or completion of a recent winter skills course is essential

Beinn Trilleachan Traverse

13.8km with 1040 metres of ascent
Starts at 07:00 • Cost £65

We kick off our winter walking programme with a traverse of this very fine Corbett. It's a walk of two halves, beginning at the end of Glen Etive, taking in the excellent ridge southward, dropping down to the loch and following the woodland path back to the head of the loch.

21/12/25

Beinn nan Imirean & Meall Glas

14km with 1000 metres of ascent
Starts at 07:00 • Cost £65

From Glen Dochart, this Corbett Munro combo offers a fine exploration of the Breadalbane uplands. It's a straightforward outing with good paths through interesting terrain with great views over the surrounding hills.

12/01/26

Carn an Tuirc, Cairn of Claise & Glas Maol

13.2km with 750 metres of ascent
Starts at 07:00 • Cost £65

A chance to tick three Munros from Glen Clunie in a clockwise walk round the An Garbh-choire. This is an easy winter walk taking in the grandeur of the some of the western Mounth hills.

12/02/26

Winter High Tops

Stob Coire Sgreamhach & Bidean nam Bian

13.6km with 1250 metres of ascent
Starts at 07:00 • Cost £65

A very fine walk in Glen Coe up the Lairig Eilde onto the mighty Bidean massif and down the spectacular Coire Gabhail – otherwise known as The Lost Valley. Even if you've done these hills before you will appreciate this grand winter outing with a true mountaineering flavour.

22/02/26

Creag Mhor & Beinn Heasgarnich

BIKE ACCESS

14.5km with 300 metres of ascent
BIKE, 10km with 1100 metres of ascent WALK.
Starts at 07:00 • Cost £65

Easy biking (or pushing up the steep bit), followed by a fine ridge and remote mountain theme on the shortish walk over two Munros, makes this outing to the remote Mamlorn hills achievable over a winter day from Glen Lochay.

07/03/26

Beinn Luibhean and Beinn Ime

10km with 1030 metres of ascent
Starts at 07:00 • Cost £65

This Arrochar Alps Corbett and Munro combination makes a good day out with some steep ground to be covered and great views to The Cobbler and Beinn an Lochain. We'll aim to do these hills from part way up the Rest and be Thankful road, but if parking doesn't allow we'll approach them from near Butterbridge.

19/03/26

Beinn a'Chreachain, Meall Buidhe, Beinn Achaladair

19km with 1300 metres of ascent
Starts at 07:00 • Cost £65

This is a big day to make use of the longer daylight towards the end of the winter. We'll plan to head out to Beinn a'Chreachain first to tick this relatively remote Munro. This will give us options to drop off the ridge early if time is short. However, if time allows the route back over Beinn Achaladair gives a superb high level route.

04/04/26

High Tops and Winter Skills Trips

We can't get to all the areas we'd like to in a single day. These trips take care of that.

Winter Skills Weekend for Hill Walkers

Starts 06:00 Costs £145

This overnight trip, based in Aviemore, will be focusing on covering the fundamental winter mountaineering skills over the two days. We will have quick access to the snow in the Northern Cairngorms and may take in a summit if we get the chance. If folk already have some winter walking skills, we can look at progressing to more advanced techniques.

Day 1 - Depart Falkirk, get straight on the hill, practice personal winter walking skills in the Cairngorms, go to Aviemore.

Day 2 - Depart Aviemore, get back on the hill, use our winter skills on a journey on the mountain, return to Falkirk.

Participants need to arrange their own accommodation for the night in the Aviemore area.

The instructors will be staying in Aviemore Youth Hostel. Transport and any equipment needed are included in the course fee. Participants with alternative travel / accommodation arrangements will need to meet the instructors in Aviemore or at Cairngorm Mountain car park before each day on the hill.

The course is open to anyone with summer hill walking experience.

17/01/26 - 18/01/26

Northwest Highlands High Tops Trip

Starts 09:00 Costs £275

This season our North-west trip will be based in Inverness. This will allow us access to great budget accommodation, manageable driving distances, and options on different areas. Below is our ideal walking itinerary for this trip.

Day 1 - Depart Falkirk in time to stop off in the Cairngorms to do an afternoon of winter skills to refresh our hill craft. Then on to Inverness SYHA to get settled in.

Day 2 - An Teallach Munros 14.5km with 1350 metres of ascent. This is the walkers route to reach the Munros. With good paths all the way. Great views over to the impressive Toll an Lochain from the top.

Day 3 - Beinn Dearg & Cona Mheall 17km with 1200 metres of ascent. Approached from the south giving a fine exploratory circuit over remote terrain far from the crowds.

Day 4 - Ben Wyvis 14km with 900 metres of ascent. Shorter day on good paths all the way.

The instructor team will be staying in Inverness youth hostel. Participants need to arrange their own accommodation in Inverness. Transport and any equipment needed are included in the course fee. Participants with alternative travel / accommodation arrangements will need to meet the instructors at Inverness SYHA each morning of the winter walking days

Previous winter walking experience or completion of a recent winter skills course is an essential prerequisite for this trip

02/02/26 - 05/02/26

Snowhole Trip

Starts at 07:00 Cost £175

Snowholing - "sleeping" in relative comfort high in the winter mountains - is a great experience. On this overnight course you will learn how to dig a communal snowcave, cook in it, and have a great night's kip metres from hostile elements. It takes effort and time but it's worth it.

This trip is suitable for any winter hillwalker up for a proper adventure

09/02/26 - 10/02/26

Torricon High Tops Trip

Starts 12:00 Costs £275

Lots to go at for adventurous winter walkers in this amazing area. As is usual in winter we need to be flexible, but the itinerary below would be the ideal programme.

Day 1 - Meet at the Outdoor Base and drive north to Torricon SYHA. We will stop at Aviemore on the way up.

Day 2 - Maol Chean-dearg 17km with 1050 metres of ascent. On Good stalker's paths from Annat, this mountain sits on its own in Coulin Forest. Steep and pathless on approach and descent

Day 3 - Beinn Eighe Munros Traverse 11.2km with 1200 metres of ascent. A classic tour of the western side of mighty Beinn Eighe. Visiting remote Coire Mhic Fearchair on the way down. Great paths all the way. Some steep sections.

Day 4 - Sgurr Dubh Traverse 8km with 700 metres of ascent. A shorter day here, but by no means a cop out. From Loch Clair to Ling Hut on good paths with lots of off-path rocky route finding in between.

The instructor team will be staying in Torricon youth hostel. Participants need to arrange their own accommodation in the Torricon area. Please note accommodation outwith the hostel is sparse. Transport and any equipment needed are included in the course fee. Participants with alternative travel / accommodation arrangements will need to meet the instructors in Torricon each morning of the winter walking days.

Previous winter walking experience, or completion of a recent winter skills course, is an essential prerequisite for this trip

09/03/26 - 12/03/26

Winter Mountaineering

Starts at 07:00 • Cost £110

Our mountaineering days will take you along a classic ridge or up a graded gully. The days will normally involve the use of a walking axe - not technical climbing axes; however, the variable nature of the Scottish winter conditions can make a grade I plod highly exciting on the day.

A good level of competence in winter hill walking is required for these days

Curved Ridge Buachaille Etive Mor (Grade II / III)

GLEN ETIVE

We offer a magnificent route up a superlative mountain with this classic winter climb which has a bit of everything: route finding, steep ground and some of the best views over to Rannoch Moor. We finish up on top of the mighty Buachaille Etive Mor.

10/12/25

Sron na Lairig (Grade II)

GLEN COE

Even though this route will go in most condition we're hoping to get it in winter nick for the Solstice. It can offer good sport on mixed ground and turf, following the main spine of the ridge up. If early season conditions don't materialise, it's still a good scramble.

21/12/25

Sron na Creise (Grade II)

BLACKMOUNT

This mountaineering route is a fine way up the nose of Creise, offering 400 metres of steep fun. The route has lots of variety, easier or harder linked pitches and fine views over Rannoch Moor.

10/01/26

Chockstone Gully & North Gully Link Up (Grade II*)

ARROCHAR

This is the best mountaineering route up to the summit of The Cobbler's North Summit. Chockstone Gully is steady with the amazing jammed chockstone providing great sport at the end. Great Gully is further up and it continues to provide fine sport, topping out on the summit. If the gullies aren't an option we'll do the Southeast Ridge (Grade 2/3 or III*) instead.

19/01/26

Summit Gully Stob Coire Nam Beith (Grade II)

GLEN COE

This is the most obvious feature and line on this fantastic peak (northwest top of Bidean nam Bian). The route itself offers 450 meters of climbing which provides a long and sustained mountaineering day. Any day out on Bidean's massif is a good use of one's time and ability - even more so in winter.

22/02/26

Central Gully Ben Lui (Grade I)

CENTRAL HIGHLANDS

A classic mountaineering outing up one of the biggest snowfields in the Central Highlands and finishing by the summit cairn, Ben Lui's Central Gully is a quality 3 star route. It's either a long walk in or a wade round the back so we plan to take bikes in from Dalrigh if possible.

25/03/26

Aonach Eagach Ridge (Grade II/III)

GLEN COE

This outing is popular enough for us to run it at least once a year. It's billed by some as the hardest scramble on the mainland. In winter it becomes a major mountaineering undertaking. Going over both Munros as well as the famous pinnacles, we start at the higher eastern end and then scramble towards the western seaboard.

31/03/26

We don't advertise winter climbing routes or venues in advance so we can go where conditions are best on the day

Intro to Winter Climbing

Starts at 07:00 • Cost £110

This course is for those who have experience of using winter walking equipment (crampons and ice axe) but have not yet experienced the thrill of Scottish winter climbing. We will look at being organised for winter climbing, the use of two ice axes and the removal of winter anchors. It is the perfect stepping-stone towards our winter climbing courses.

Previous winter walking / mountaineering experience is essential

06/01/26	25/02/26
28/01/26	17/03/26

Winter Climbing

Starts at 07:00 • Cost £110

For those of you who wish to get onto steeper ground with technical tools our winter climbing days should tick all the right boxes. As usual we do not to pre-plan specific routes so we have the flexibility to find the best winter conditions. This is a chance to be guided up one of Scotland's classic climbs, either on west coast ice or Cairngorm mixed ground.

Previous winter climbing experience is essential

14/12/25	21/02/26
17/12/25	04/03/26
07/01/26	18/03/26

Climbing and Mountaineering Trips

We can't get to all the areas we'd like to in a single day. These trips take care of that.

Northern Cairngorm Mixed Winter Climbing Trip

Starts at 06:00 • Cost £345

We plan to head into the Northern Cairngorms area and climb some of the classic mixed winter lines that the area is justly famed for. In the past we've got on The Haston Line (III), Hidden Chimney (III), Aladin's Mirror Direct (IV 4) to name a few of the classics in the area.

The instructor team will be staying in Aviemore youth hostel. Participants need to arrange their own accommodation in the Aviemore area. Transport and any equipment needed are included in the course fee. Participants with alternative travel / accommodation arrangements will need to meet the instructors in Aviemore SYHA or at Cairngorm Mountain car park before each day on the hill.

Previous experience seconding routes at Scottish winter climbing grade III or above and a good level of hill fitness is essential.

13/01/26 - 15/01/26

Northwest Highlands Winter Climbing Trip

Starts 09:00 Cost £395

This Inverness-based trip will allow access to the North-West Highlands with the flexibility to head where the conditions dictate. Our plan is to have one day on An Teallach if it's in condition with options in the Beinn Dearg massif, the Fannichs and west of Cannich.

The instructor team will be staying at the Inverness SYHA. Participants need to arrange their own accommodation in the Inverness area. Transport and any equipment needed are included in the course fee. Participants with alternative travel / accommodation arrangements will need to meet the instructors at the Inverness SYHA each morning of the climbing days.

Previous experience seconding Scottish winter climbing routes with two axes and a good level of hill fitness is essential.

02/02/26 - 05/02/26

Torridon Mountaineering Trip

Starts at 12:00 Cost £395

This season we return to Torridon to take in some of the fine mountains in the area.

Our mountaineering options are many - the traverse of Liathach, ridges and gullies on Beinn Eighe, routes on Beinn Alligin or Beinn Damph - There's even winter routes on Fuar Tholl if it's in condition. In other words, lots to go at locally.

The instructor team will be staying in Torridon youth hostel. Participants need to arrange their own accommodation in the Torridon area. Please note accommodation outwith the hostel is sparse. Transport and any equipment needed are included in the course fee. Participants with alternative travel / accommodation arrangements will need to meet the instructors in Torridon each morning of the mountaineering days.

Previous experience seconding Scottish winter mountaineering routes with and a good level of hill fitness is essential.

09/03/26 - 12/03/26

Ski Touring Courses

All ski equipment (skis, boots, poles etc.) and safety equipment is available for clients and is included in the course fee, however you are welcome to bring your own.

All our Ski days are guided by a British Mountain Guide or Mountain ski Instructor

Ski touring

Intro to Ski Touring

Starts at 07:00 • Cost £95

The course is aimed at those who have on-piste experience but wish to move to the backcountry! The day will have an emphasis on skill acquisition, and this will be delivered whilst in the context of a simple ski tour. Typical venues for these days include Geal Charn in the Drummochter Pass or the Lawers range above Loch Tay. During the day topics covered will include equipment familiarisation and use, ascending techniques (including the use of skins, heel risers and ski crampons), efficient travel, safe travel, and basic avalanche search and rescue techniques using transceiver, shovel and probe.

This course provides excellent preparation for our guided ski touring days.

Ski ability - confident descending red runs on pisted slopes

Guided Ski Touring

Starts at 07:00 • Cost £95

A day out in the mountains ski touring. There will be elements of teaching if required, however the focus will be on getting out and enjoying the hills. Previous trips have involved completing summits such as A'Bhuidheanach Bheag in the Drummochter Pass, Glas Maol in Glenshee and a traverse of Meall a'Choire Leith and Meall Corranaich in the Lawers region.

Ski ability - confident on red runs and experience of ski touring summits in Scotland or the Alps. A reasonable level of fitness is also required

Winter Skills Weekend for Ski Tourers

Start 06:00 • Costs £195

This two-day linked course will be based in the Northern Cairngorms. We will look at getting around the hill safely on skis. Elements of safe travel and navigation on skis along with transceiver and rescue work will be looked at. There will also be plenty of ski touring in between with a bit of ski coaching for those who are looking for it.

Participants need to arrange their own accommodation for the night. The instructors will be staying in Aviemore Youth Hostel. There are also other options in and around Aviemore. Transport and any equipment needed are included in the course fee. Participants with alternative travel / accommodation arrangements will need to meet the instructors in Aviemore or at Cairngorm Mountain car park before each day on the hill.

The weekend has no steep touring planned so is open to anyone with previous skiing experience.

17/01/26 - 18/01/26 0600

Skiers Snowhole Trip

Starts 07:00 • Costs £225

It's a real adventure skinning onto the Cairngorm plateau, choosing a suitable site, and then digging your own accommodation for the night - a proper bucket list experience for any ski tourer.

This trip is suitable for any ski tourer up for a proper adventure

09/02/26 - 10/02/26

Ski Touring Overnight Expedition

Starts 07:00 • Costs £225

This is a chance to sleep out in the mountains after traversing lots of skiable terrain. If conditions allow, we'll sleep high under the stars, but we could also end up in the vicinity of a friendly bothy. We will be carrying touring kit as well as expedition gear, so a good level of fitness is desirable if you want to enjoy this cracking overnight trip.

Ability - confident skiing red runs, experience of ski touring summits in Scotland or the Alps
